There are many ways to procure medical ingredients, but I mainly grow them myself, and I would really rather not let my field go unattended. Meanwhile, I had Reszurre sit outside and enjoy the sun.

Reszurre-san, I'll...

Go do some work, okay?

Not too long after I'd left her alone, her quiet sobs started reaching me as I worked the field in my garden. I didn't know the reason for her tears, but I could imagine that it wouldn't be easy for me—a male human, just like her captors—to help her emotionally. I kept silently working until she stopped crying, and, before I knew it, the sun was at its zenith.
